Residential Pools:

Residential pools typically require a building permit and an electrical permit. Each permit costs $30.00. A building permit is not required for prefabricated swimming pools that are less than 24 inches deep.

The attached Appendix G handout is from the 2009 International Residential Code and covers the building permit portion requirements for an above ground or in ground pools.

The attached Chapter 42 handout is from the 2009 International Residential Code and covers the electrical requirements for the pool installation.

If an in ground pool is poured in place, a plan will be required to be submitted with the building permit application.

Additional information may be required and will be requested at the time of the permit application review.

Please feel free to contact this department with any questions or comments regarding your pool permitting process.

Thank you,
